CVPOA requests that CV Road planlines be aired during Branson appearance

Monterey County Supervisor Willard Branson has been invited to address the next general meeting of the CVPOA, according to president C.L. Underwood. At last Thursday's board of directors meeting, the property owners' group drafted a list of topics which they would like to see covered in the meeting which will be held next month.

High on the list is the Carmel Valley Road and Branson's views on planlines. Following in close order are opinions on scenic easements, the Spangle slope density report and expedition of its adoption, flood control, and Branson's views on the G zone.

The CVPOA has asked in the past that the G zone be eliminated from Valley zoning, but most recently this was denied. This zone allows a variety of uses such as laboratories and hospitals in residential areas, with a use permit.

In reference to hospitals, the CVPOA board also reiterated its opposition to the convalescent hospital proposed by Dr. Joseph Noto on Schulte Road.

Acceptance of the resignation of CVPOA treasurer John Briscoe was announced. Briscoe will be moving from the area after completion of his present school contract at MPC and a treasurer will be elected to replace him.

Judi Brandt, wife of local post master, passes away Thursday

Valley residents were saddened to hear of the death of Judith Brandt last Thursday. Judi, wife of Postmaster Sam Brandt, was known and liked by hundreds in Carmel Valley as she and the "post office poodle," Smokey, served the customers of the U.S. mails.

She and Sam were frequently in the audience at White Oaks Theatre, both when their daughter, Toni, was on stage and when she wasn't, for Judi and Sam were old troopers themselves. Judi had been a professional model and had been active in amateur theatricals, and Sam is a veteran of radio in Chicago.

Judi was born in Los Angeles in 1919. She and former Outlook editor Betty Branch went to school together, and it was through Betty and her husband, Russ, that Sam and Judi met.

Judi's interest developed in the field of ceramics, as well as modeling, and when she and Sam moved to the Peninsula 22 years ago, it was to establish the Brandt Studio in Carmel. After two years as potters, they moved to Carmel Valley where they built their home on Ford Road. The quiet hideaway goes unnoticed, set behind eucalyptus and pine, between the Community Center and Tularcitos School.

Death came at Community Hospital after an extended illness. Private services were held at Little Chapel by the Sea with Rev. James Brock of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church officiating. Friends wishing to give a memorial gift may contribute to the cobalt therapy unit or the building fund of Community Hospital.

In addition to her daughter, Tonia, Judi also leaves her mother, Mrs. Winifred Bowers of Carmel Valley and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Holmes and Mrs. James Woolaway of Honolulu.

Sam and Tonia asked if we would please extend their heartfelt thanks to the hundreds of friends who have written and expressed sympathy on hearing of Judi's death. So many cards and letters have arrived that it is impossible for him to begin to answer each one individually.

Garden Club president Irwin T. Johnson, Sterling Mummert and Hugh Smith will make up the plant identification committee.

Sodality

A party will conclude the season for Sodality members at the home of Sodality Prefect Mrs. Lou Allaire May 9. This will be preceded by a communion service at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church May 7 which members will attend together with their families.

The April meeting was held at the church parish hall with Chaplain Father Juan Oronoz leading the last in a series of discussions on the Beatitudes.

Women's Club has luncheon; plans tea

Chairman Mrs. Irving Ollason and her co-chairman, Mrs. Fred Starr, both of whom have traveled extensively throughout the South Pacific, built their decor around a large carved tikki god when they transformed the Community Center into a tropical corner Wednesday for the luncheon meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club.

Those who responded to the invitation "wear your gayest muu muu" were rewarded with leis. Guests served themselves from a selection of salads displayed on an authentic tapa cloth.

Members of the food committee were Mmes. Karl Kunz, Daniel Coleman, Tom Henderson, Norman Bundgard, Luther Washington, John Berry, John Klump, Eugene Clingman, Kenneth Korver, James Ellis, James Cecka, John Tregea, Gigi Porter, Donald Sherman and Miss Anita Krause.

During the business meeting conducted by president Mrs. Larry Cummings, a report was heard from Fiesta chairman Mrs. David Hoisington, and the club voted to sponsor the fiesta street dance.

Cards signed by each member and a fitting tribute by Louella Ollason was given four members leaving soon to make their home in Walnut Creek. They are Miss Dorothy Caton, Miss Bessie Irvin, Mrs. Guy Freeman, and Mrs. Mildred Eastman.

A fashion show co-commentated by Jean Klech of the Pampered Hamper and Joanne Sears of Joanne's Boutique and Sportswear Shop was modeled by Mmes. Barbara Ascarate, Don Meharry, Don Laird, Thomas Cullen, Rex Pryer, Stephen Schaefer, William Hall, John Power and William Wood.

Members are invited to bring guests to the spring tea May 3 at 12:30 at the Community Center. Co-chairmen, Mrs. Arthur Dresser and Mrs. Kenneth Van Hagen have invited Mrs. Mabel Beuhler of Salinas to speak on antique glass.

Cypress Swim Club to hold rummage sale

Proceeds will be to help Cypress Swim Club send a six-girl team to the 1967 Senior National AAU Outdoor Synchronized Swimming championships at Albany, New York, in August, to defend its seventh-place position in national rankings, recently won in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Donations for the sale are still being accepted, and arrangements for pick-ups of any items contributed may be made by calling the Rummage Sale Chairman, Mrs. Lelia Sayers, at 372-0573, or her Co-Chairman, Del Neel, at 659-2446 after 8 p.m.

EDITORIAL

Carmel Unified School District has the good fortune of having an abundance of good candidates running for its school board.

With passage of the recent tax override measure, there's optimism in the air about our schools. Selection of the best possible candidates will be helpful in investing the funds now available for the best educational return.

The building maintenance and refurbishing program has been well studied and outlined by the school administration. Not that there won't be decisions along the way on these projects, but matters of educational policy and direction should be the board's primary concern.

To formulate such policy most effectively, voters are offered five candidates who, in our opinion, stand out in qualifications among the total of seven who are running.

We feel sure that the district will move forward with election of three from the following five: incumbents Dr. Hilton Bialek and Steven Sassoon; attorney Richard Wilsdon, who for several years has been a leader in useful school studies; Mrs. Agnese Martineau, a knowledgeable teacher, and attorney Thomas Moore, who worked hard for the school override tax.

As for the Monterey Peninsula College board, we feel it is of special importance that the three capable incumbent members be re-elected. Serving MPC well have been Dr. Margaret Swigart, Mrs. Nancy O'Gara and Russel Hansen.

It should be specially noted by voters that George M. Givіden for both MPC and the Monterey High School District boards, has been reported as a circulator of right-wing extremist literature. His war record is impressive, but his qualifications for a school or college board are doubtful.

PERSPECTIVE

IN SHORT

"DON'T PICK UP baby wild animals unless they are injured or ill," reminds Carmel Valley's Gwen May of the SPCA. "This is a good rule to follow. In most cases a seemingly lost 'baby wild animal' is really safe, but its mother may be reluctant to come into the open with humans around.

"Often a little spotted fawn may be found lying quietly in the forest—its mother has left it there while she goes off to look for food. So don't disturb it. However, if a fawn is found wandering about and crying, the chances are good that some harm has come to the mother and the little animal does need help."

If any ill or injured baby or adult animals are found, please call your SPCA Shelter, 375-3333, any day except Thursdays and Sundays. After working hours and on Thursdays and Sundays, call 659-2156 for help for any animal.

ASSURING POSITIVE Motivation in the Early School Age Child is the rather scary sounding title of a conference to be held at Los Laureles Lodge April 28 and 29. It will be sponsored by the Monterey County Office of Education which reassuringly explains that any teacher who wishes to increase "skills in providing ego-building personal growth experiences for children" may attend.

VALLEY ARTIST Gene Baker was reading a weather prediction from Ireland the other day which he felt was easily applicable to recent weather in Carmel Valley.

If you look out in the morning and can't see the mountains on the other side of the Valley, it's raining.

If you look out and you can see the mountains on the other side, it's going to rain later.

A PROSE and poetry contest for students in local schools is being sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. Entries must be in by April 27 and cash prizes will be awarded to three winners in junior (grades 7-9) and senior (grades 10-12) categories.

Subject of the poetry or prose is how we can help make the world safe and peaceful for everyone, everywhere. Entries should be mailed to WILPF Contest, 5 Esquiline Rd., Carmel Valley.

DR. RUSSEL STOLFI of Story Road has been selected to write a Marine Corps historical reference pamphlet and will be "back in the Marines" on active duty until July 1. Stolfi, an assistant professor of history at the Naval Postgraduate School, served in the Corps from 1959-63. The pamphlet on which he will be working is tentatively entitled: "U.S. Marine Corps Civic Action in Viet Nam: March 1965-March 1966."

LOCAL BOWLERS on the Stirrup Cup team have been in high spirits. Two weeks ago they wiped out the second place team from Salinas by winning all four games, and last week they won three out of four over the Marina team.

Also they hope the CV Lions Club has finished clawing up the alleys and will be bowling against them this weekend.

Editor's Note: Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Caldwell of Carmel Valley Manor recently received a letter from their grandson, Dr. Peter Caldwell, a First Lieutenant in the Marine Corps, serving his second year in Vietnam. This is the second half of his long letter.

"In addition to the problems posed by the enemy, there is also a kind of cultural roadblock," he continued, "which has partially to do with the Asian concept of time as a circle. It is not to say that the Vietnamese don't work hard, because they do—an eight-hour day in the life of a Vietnamese farmer would never happen as they labor from early dawn to past dark, just as most people do who make their living from the land. But, of course, in Asia the work is that much harder and results that less spectacular because only primitive equipment is available to them.

"Anyhow they believe that if something can't be completed at a certain time, there is no cause to worry because the same time will come again. (It's all in the reincarnation principle).

"The effect on Americans who want to see fast results and come from the 'go-go' world is beaucoup frustration, and so our tendency is to completely take over and do things our way. This of course, harms the basic goal—which is to establish a progressive, self-reliant, and effective Vietnamese socio-political-economic structure.

The reasons that the government's influence at the country village and hamlet level (80% of the people) is weak, erratic and ineffective in many areas are partially due just to the effects of continual war with governmental chaos. There is a great gap between the ruling elite and intellectuals and the bulk of the people, so that although the leaders may want to change things they often are at a loss to know how to go about it because they don't have good understanding of the problems of the peasants.

"To bridge this gap there have been several attempts at setting up governmental cadres that go into the hamlets and work with the people.

"The most recent program and the one currently in operation is called the RD cadre (Revolutionary Development) and consists of 59-man teams of trained personnel who go in, live in the hamlets and provide "security" against Charlie (by organizing people's militia and self-defense zones) and work with the villagers to organize and improve educational, cultural and economic programs as well as re-establishing an effective self-government in the hamlet.

"Then, if all goes well (the biggest problem of course is eliminating the much talked about "VC intrastructure) the cadre moves on to another hamlet.

"So that is the basis for the establishment of a VC-free future—that these cadres can do the job. Whether they can or not remains to be seen.

"...A comment on the description of the Marines' 'County Fair,' where I think he (the Post author) missed the boat a little bit. Although the Marines organize the show, we only provide a blocking and surrounding force while the actual searching of the village and interrogation and ID checking, etc., is done exclusively by Vietnamese.

"So the picture of '8 foot giants' stomping through town is really not accurate. We do provide chow, dental care, medical care, but naturally it's just optional and nobody gets his teeth pulled if he doesn't want them out.

"Entertainment is part of the show here but it is usually Vietnamese type. All in all, it's pretty effective I think... we average around 2 or 3 a month.

"Medically, it (Viet Nam) is a real bonanza as we Rx around 500-600 people and often find some good candidates for surgery, hare lips, cataracts, etc."

Dr. Caldwell expects to be leaving Viet Nam in August of this year. The hospital, of which he is supervisor, is on the front lines.

JOVIAL IN SPITE of the action, a native chops up timbers from a bridge which was burned down by the Viet Cong.

past four years. We have learned a lot and accomplished a great deal during this time and would like to continue the record.

The new building program, excellent scholastic record of transfer students to 4 year colleges, improvement of vocational-technical instruction, teaching of modern health principles, but not advocating "the Pill," (as erroneously rumored) have all been carried forward by this board. The record has been achieved under financial handicaps.

Russel Hansen

QUALIFICATIONS:

Four years serving on the Board, the past two as chairman, have given necessary experience and familiarity with problems. I am the business representative for the Carpenter's Union and Secretary-treasurer of the Monterey Building Trades Council. Monterey Peninsula College is in the midst of a seven million dollar building program and I think this background would be valuable.

EDUCATION AND BACKGROUND:

Trained in technical schools in personnel, labor management and production management, and sat as a board member for vocational training in trades.

Moved to the Peninsula from Michigan 20 years ago. I live in Monterey and have two children, 9 and 12, going to the new Foothill School, and a married daughter.

For eight years a member of board of directors of the Community Chest, Monterey County Chairman of the Red Cross, member of Monterey Peninsula Student Employment Service, committee chairman of the Boy Scouts and on the board of directors of the USO.

FIELD OF INTEREST

It is my belief that Monterey Peninsula College must continue with its strong academic program as well as continue to improve upon the vocational classes which are available. I do not feel it should be a technical school, but some young people have been discouraged because they felt they were not qualified for a speeded-up academic program.

This is a community college and as such it is our job to see beyond tomorrow and plan for a much greater field with open mindedness to changes in our society.

EDUCATION AND BACKGROUND:

Graduate of Goucher College and Johns Hopkins University. A resident and practicing physician of the Monterey Peninsula for the past 37 years. Named "Woman of the Year" by the Quota Club in 1962.

FIELD OF INTEREST IN BOARD DUTIES:

Particularly interested in curriculum. There are new courses in mathematics and reading as well as 25 vocations-technical courses. These are expensive courses for a "poor" college, but they are expanding all the time. Because of my medical interests, someday, I hope MPC can train nurses.

Nancy O'Gara

QUALIFICATIONS:

Served on MPC Board for past three years. A member of the Citizens Committee which made a study of MPC, delving into the problems and reasons of discord, and make recommendations on the improvement of education, sound spending of money and harmonious relations between administration, faculty and trustees.

EDUCATION AND BACKGROUND:

Educated in California School of Fine Arts, Corcoran Institute and Bennington College. Presdently book review editor for the Monterey Peninsula Herald, member of Monterey History and Art Association, Monterey Committee on Civic Appearance, and former Monterey County Symphony Guild board member. Mother of three school-age children.

FIELD OF INTEREST IN BOARD DUTIES:

During the present board term of office, we have made wise and prudent use of the bond monies voted in 1965 and have continued to expand, within the financial limits, the technical and vocational program and still maintained a campus where free and intelligent discussion is carried on without the unpleasantness occurring in other institutions of higher learning.

Curriculum has been expanded, and business courses modernized, and a wide variety of vocational programs made available. The board and administration fought to retain the Cooks and Waiters School which aided 85% of its graduates to obtain jobs, instead of being unemployed.

The entire community should be served by a regional college. We are expanding and upgrading the library, conducting seminars and providing quality lectures, musicals and educational programs for the Peninsula.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Employed by Lytton Industires testing laboratory, as a research scientist. Training in educational tests and measurement, statistics and education administration. Administered Vanderbilt University Medical School entrance examinations, on faculty of West Point for 3 years and NY University for 2 years. Served as board chairman of two corporations, president of one and operated three retail stores.

EDUCATION AND BACKGROUND:

BS degree in engineering, master's degree in psychology and statistics, graduate studies in education, data processing, social psychology and computer courses.

I am 38 years old, served in World War II and Korea in the Marine Corps and Army and the holder of five Purple Hearts. A resident of Monterey, with five children.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy
of the Oleander Garden Shop

There are trees which take the salty air of the ocean, such as Monterey pine and Monterey cypress, and there are others which will take it only after the air has filtered through a shield of trees, or other windbreak. The primrose tree, Lauunaria Patersoni, is of the latter kind. It grows to 20-25 feet and is an evergreen tree. The leaves are thick, olive green, and about 4 inches long. The flowers are a light pink and resemble hibiscus; they are 2 inches wide. It blooms in summer. It was tried here in the Valley and went through the winter unharmed.

One of the most faithful perennials to the gardener is the Shasta daisy. These plants will not fail to give you their lovely pure white flowers in summer. The flowers are always carried head up, for everyone to see and enjoy. The stems, which carry them, are strong and do not bend easily if the plants are in a sunny location. The flowers are very good as cut flowers.

"Esther Reed" is a well-known double-flowered variety. "Marconi" is another with frilled petals. "Serenade," a new double, mum type, has large frilled flowers 6 inches across, on 3-foot stems; also "Swansdown" is new, of the above type, with profuse blooms of 5-inch flowers.

LAWN SPRAYING

Broad-leaved weeds in lawns can be eliminated by spraying them with a selective weed killer which will not harm the grass if the instructions on the label are followed. Do not try to put an extra tablespoon of weed killer in for good measure; more than necessary is harmful.

There are different ways of applying it. An ordinary garden sprinkling can will do the job. But a spray tank of 3-gallon capacity will do it better. You can lower the nozzle close to the grass and spray, thus the air will not carry some of the weed killer to the neighboring shrubs. Only a little bit of it might damage your favorite plant.

Or, you may like to use the aerosol type; this has weed killer under pressure and can be used for spot weed-killing. Also, you can use the type of sprayer which you attach to the hose. The spraying tank, however, is the safest.

Whatever you use, try to keep the sprayer only for weed control. Mark it "Weed Control," so there is no danger of using it to spray insecticides-fungicides with.

MADE OF GOLD?

When we like to say how expensive a certain thing is, we are accustomed to saying, "What is it made of, gold?" Yet, an ounce of gold is worth only $33.00, while an ounce of Strawberry Tart petunia seed is $906.00 and an ounce of "Cinderella" fibrous begonia seed is worth $1792.00!

So how about saying from now on, "What is it made of, begonia seeds?!" But no matter what is the price of the seeds, it still sounds better to use our old yardstick of value.

By the way, this Strawberry Tart petunia is a double multiflora, upright and compact. The petals are bi-colored—pure white and strawberry red. Its earlier cousin is "Cherry Tart," which has the same character, but with brilliant rose-pink and white. Both do very well in 8-inch pots, or in a planter.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

"We can do anything"

Carmel Mayor Steve Grant is an action-man

Carmel's mayor, Steve Grant, is a man who figures the time to get things done is right now. And if the City of Carmel accomplishes those things, then there is still another list just waiting to be completed. His philosophy is, "We can do anything we set our minds to!"

Heading his list of what is good for Carmel-by-the-Sea, is to maintain the beauty and charm of the city. The completion, furnishing, occupation and use of the city facility at Junipero and Fourth is also high on the agenda. (Dedication of Phase I will be on May 6.) A solution to the parking problem and a lowering of the fire insurance premium rate follow in close order.

At last week's City Council meeting, six or seven of Grant's projected aims were either put on the works or virtually solved.

Although his permanent residence in Carmel dates back only ten years, he has been on the west coast since 1908 or 1910 when his family lived in Los Angeles and then moved to Oakland and then on to Oregon. Therefore, Grant has seen many changes in the Western states.

He is a graduate of Auburn University in Alabama and has attended graduate school at Georgetown University, Georgia Tech and Stanford.

Grant first came to the Peninsula with the Army in 1942, stationed at Fort Ord, and then returned as a student of Chinese Mandarin at the Army Language School in 1955. During his 13 years of active duty, he went from the rank of private to Lt. Colonel. His final assignment was with the Special Services, who are the now familiar Green Beret.

In 1964 Steve was elected to the city council and, after serving two years, was elected Mayor in 1966 by his fellow members. He has lived in Carmel for 10 years, and during the time when other communities began to show the toll of population increases and mass technology, he has seen Carmel hold her own.

While he has no desire to see Carmel "stay just as it always has been," he fervently desires to see an orderly growth in the Village tradition. This is a battle of constant vigilance . . . planning parking that doesn't desecrate the landscape, buildings that comply with the visual image of Carmel, modern conveniences that don't smack of big city, chrome and steel, and protecting the residential area from further encroachment of commercialism.

Grant, who was instrumental in bringing about the first and only annexation to the City of Carmel in 50 years, welcomes future gradual annexations. The first annexation was a section on Carpenter Street and took place in the early sixties.

STEVE GRANT

All facets of Carmel life are of interest to him. His wife, Ann Martin, is the daughter of the late Royden Martin. The Martin family has lived in this area for 110 years, so Grant has a veritable reference file on Carmel's history and growth right in the family.

Interest in the young people of the town begins at home with the Grants' two younger sons, Patrick, nine, and Robert, seven. A stepson, John, is in the Army, and two teenage nephews and a niece are living at the Grant home, affording diversified viewpoints on youth of all ages.

Hiking, camping, fishing and hunting are favorite pastimes of the Mayor, who enjoys the outdoor sports in his "spare time."

In addition to the family and business duties, Grant estimates that most city councilmen put in a good 20 hours of preparation or study for each hour in the council chambers. He sees the Mayor's job as merely a chairman, and "when something starts brewing, he jumps in and does something about it."

Grant, an insurance underwriter for the past four and a half years, was previously a professional fund-raising counsel. This would appear to be an excellent requisite for setting goals and accomplishing them . . . and as far as he is concerned, Grant has a never-ending supply of goals.

Children's Home Society plans 2nd home show

Plans for the Children's Home Society annual Home Show were launched last week when 178 members met at a luncheon at the Beach Club.

The four-day event, the second of its kind, is scheduled for May 11-14 at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

Participant firms will present 22 displays of home furnishings and interiors for public viewing. Those who are included are Brinton's from Carmel Rancho Center, Baker Interiors, Dorothy Constans, A.I.D., Nelle Currie, A.I.D., Cutshall's Interiors (Salinas), Furniture Square, Robert Hancock, A.I.D., Marjorie Haynes, A.I.D., Heirloom Galleries, Holman's Department Store, Frank Leker Home Furnishings, Mathewson's New England Shop, Mary May's, Packwoods (Salinas), Swan's Furniture, and Tinsley Furniture. The interior design students at Monterey Peninsula College will be assisted by Ted Rinker and Anthony Petti of Salinas.

The four-day program will feature speakers in interior design, magazine and art fields and is open to the public at no extra cost. The subjects will range from California cookery to contemporary painting.

A snack bar will be available for lunches during the day.

A booth staffed by local members of the American Institute of Interior Designers will be open from 11 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 13-14, where show visitors may ask advice on home decorating.

Tickets are available from members of the Children's Home Society and will be placed in local shops shortly before the event.

GOP women hear cartoonist

Vaughn Shoemaker, noted newspaper cartoonist, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Carmel Republican Women's Club on Tuesday, April 19. Mr. Shoemaker will autograph his latest book of cartoons beginning at 11:30 and during the social hour prior to lunch. The meeting will be held at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club with luncheon being served at 1 p.m.

Shoemaker has achieved fame as an editorial and political cartoonist for the past 45 years. For 27 years of these he was chief cartoonist for the Chicago Daily News. He is now a Carmel resident spending part time in Chicago. At present his cartoons are syndicated through 80 newspapers with a daily circulation of ten million readers.

The public is invited to attend this rare appearance of the busy cartoonist. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Douglas Brown (624-2677) or Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard (624-1192) no later than Saturday, April 15. Luncheon is $3 including tax and tip.

Mrs. Wm. Arnold succeeds Stanton as president of Art Museum

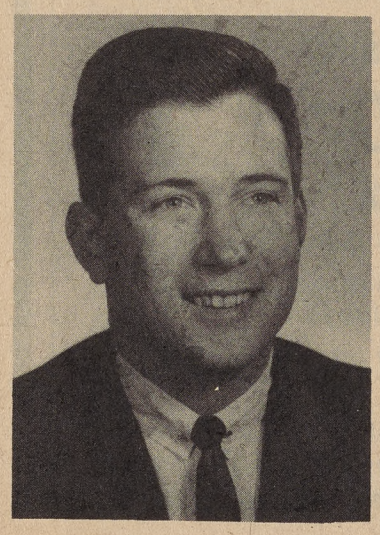
The resignation of Robert Stanton as president of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association (MPMA) has been regretfully accepted by the board.

Mrs. William Arnold, who has been active in the association for the past four years, has been elected to fulfill Stanton's term. Mrs. Arnold was chairman of last year's Christmas Creations.

Stanton announced that because of business commitments he would not have the time to devote to the office of president, but he will continue on the board of trustees.

Other officers are Steve Crouch, 2nd vice president; Barbara Burdick, 3rd vice president; Mrs. Walter Jennings, recording secretary; Mrs. Marian Messier, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Roderick Dewar, representative at large.

New assistant bank manager



STEPHEN L. THIGPEN has been named assistant manager of Wells Fargo Bank's Carmel office, succeeding Frederick K. Duhring who will be manager of Wells Fargo Bank's new Santa Cruz campus office.

Thigpen has been assistant manager of the University Avenue-Bayshore office, Palo Alto.

Born in Pasadena, he attended high school in San Mateo and received his B.S. degree at California State Polytechnic College in San Louis Obispo.

He and his wife, Kay, and their three children, Kimberly, 10, Gregory, 7, and Scott, 6, plan to construct a home in Carmel Valley.

Under the oaks and among the cacti

By Mildred Hattan

"The Hatchway" on Rancho Road was a gala place last week when Capt. (ret.) and Mrs. W.G.B. Hatch invited sixty friends from Pebble Beach, Carmel and Valley neighbors to join them on Thursday evening, and sixty more on Friday for an "After Easter Party." Mrs. Hatch used an arrangement of blue and yellow iris for the centerpiece and decorated the rooms with many lovely camellia blossoms for the buffet and cocktail parties. The Hatches spent their Easter holiday in Los Angeles.

Sherri Sweiss had an opportunity to get re-acquainted with her Godfather last week when Dr. and Mrs. John McEnery spent the weekend in the Valley with the Don Sweiss family. The McEnerys were enroute home to their home in Oak Park, Ill. from San Francisco where Dr. McEnery, a pediatrician, had attended a medical convention.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mathews entertained the Couples Club of the CV Community Chapel recently at their home on Sage Road. Each person brought a white elephant for the evening of "Robber Bingo." In keeping with the March-St. Patrick's theme, Lynn served a Grasshopper Pie and coffee. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Don Brill, and Mrs. Eva Doelman.

A warm Valley welcome to Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb, former Carmel residents, who have purchased interests formerly shared in a three-way corporation with Paul Porter and Milton Marquard to become the new owner-managers of the Canary Cottages.

Kay and "Pen" Pendelton and small dachshund Leilani who have managed the 17-unit motel for three years are in temporary quarters at the Valley Lodge and their many friends will be happy to learn that they plan to remain in the Valley or at least on the Peninsula.

Mrs. Robert Angell and Mrs. Arno Hanel shared first place honors at the duplicate bridge tournament played Tuesday evening by the members of the Valley Bridge Club at the Community Center. E.W. Gravelle and J.E. Van Laanen were in second place at the end of play and a tie for third place was divided among Mrs. Penny Enlow and L.T. Alden, and Mrs. M.L. Stoney and Col.(ret.) Al Friedenthal.

Oaks and Cactus always carefully classified such information as ages and weights of Valley residents. However, under the happy circumstances, we feel certain that we will be forgiven if we report that Miss April Dawn Ridgley now weighs 2 lbs, 3 oz. and is gaining steadily, thank you!

The 'Miracle Baby of Sage Road' weighed a mere two pounds when welcomed six weeks ago by her parents, Lt. and Mrs. Philip J. Ridgley. The weight of the premature little girl then dropped to 1 lb. 13 oz. before showing a marked improvement. The daily prayers of their many friends and neighbors have been with the Valley couple who make their home at 8 Sage Road.

Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Howard Vail held a warm family gathering at their Garzas Road home when Martha's sisters and their families arrived to spend the recent holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Rohrbach enroute to their home in Severne Park, Md., from a Hawaiian vacation, were met in the Valley by their son, Lt. Richard Rohrbach, a Naval Academy graduate now stationed at Hueneme, Calif.

Arriving from Hawthorne, Calif., were Mr. and Mrs. Verfield Graves, who were joined by their son, John, who resides at the CV Golf and Country Club.

Many Valleyites were present for the Monday night installation dinner of the Monterey Peninsula Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks including new trustees, Henry Perry and Manuel DeMaria.

On view at Rancho Carmelo Florists is a plaque of "The Three Graces," a Tollefson reproduction. Also on display are samples of Robles del Rio artist Vonn Hamilton's fabric sculpture.

"Happiness is tying your troubles to the tail of a kite" was the theme of the Lionette Spring dinner-dance held at the Community Center. Charlie Brown and a kite eatin' tree, Snoopy and the Red Baron were all a part of the fun. Also displayed were a number of the trihedral kites constructed by Mark Hattan's Seaside sixth grade students.

Mrs. Kenneth Korver was chairman of the dinner party. Other committee chairmen included Mrs. Sal Ocampo, Mrs. Nick Skalyo and Mrs. Mark Hattan.

North Hollywood is the new center of operation for Ralph Trout Jr. who moved last week from his Valley home, 3 La Rancheria. The musician, who until recently entertained at June Simpson's in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, leaves behind a faithful and devoted friend, a great Dane, "Rebel," who is being cared for by Jane and Ben King of Robles del Rio.

The guest of honor at a surprise birthday party, who nearly 'surprised' his wife and guests by returning to work the evening of the party before the festivities began, was Hans Doelman of Via Contenta. Eva had stored the birthday cake at a neighbor's home and had planned the evening for guests who included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Cedercreutz, Lt. and Mrs. John Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zampatti, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kynch, Mrs. Patricia De Amaral, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Caetano, Mr. and Mrs. Art Valles, Vic Harber, and Mr. and Mrs. Denis Peavey.

It took deep concentration of classmates just learning to read to unravel the clues in the treasure hunt held following the luncheon celebrating the seventh birthday of Ronnie Gayman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Gayman of Boronda Road. Enjoying festivities fashioned around an Indian theme were: Wes Farr, Douglas Lake, Kent Swanson, Rogue Hattan, Benjie Speiser, Billy Bugbee, and Ronnie's sister, Pam.

Bored reviewer labels latest Swedish film 'phony art'

By DONALD MINOR

The undraped body of actress Essy Persson is more or less continuously visibly in "I a Woman," now showing at the Hill. But what is really naked about this tripe is its commercial purpose. Out front, for all to see, is a phony Swedish art film with its profit-motive hanging out. There are no sociological or metaphysical trappings to hide its thinness, no concept to distract the viewer from its simple prurience. Clearly, "I a Woman" is a side-show contrived to exploit Sweden's reputation for frankly sexual films in general and Miss Persson's voluptuous beauty in particular.

A stunning particular it is, too. Being obviously appreciative of this asset, director Radley Metzger sets to his task with a lascivious enthusiasm that is momentarily disarming. Before too many dresses have dropped, however, and too many concupiscent encounters have been enacted (to the accompaniment of dialogue that sounds as if it might have been tape recorded in a frat house on Saturday night) it becomes painfully apparent that Maestro Metzger has no original changes to ring on the olden tune he plays. His opus quickly becomes a tedium in five flats.

Not that there is anything inherently self-defeating about the projection of sex phantasies in an art work. Masterpieces have been known to materialize in such projections from time to time, a pertinent example being Joyce's "Ulysses," which has recently been transferred to the film medium—and which should provide an instructive comparison with Metzger's crass little carnival.

The crudely drawn antics of Metzger's nymphomaniac nurse might conceivably reach the libido of a few young school boys. But in any lancer of even slightly more maturity in matters concerning the gentle gender, only snickers of derision are likely to greet the preposterous set-ups that "I a Woman" offers. That one in which our insatiable heroine is dated, devastated and deserted without even learning the scrawny brute's name would be a hilarious put-on if it weren't so moronically serious.

What the cinema brewmaster here intended to be an aphrodisiac turned out to be, like the rest of the film, a depressant.

I a Man was totally bored.

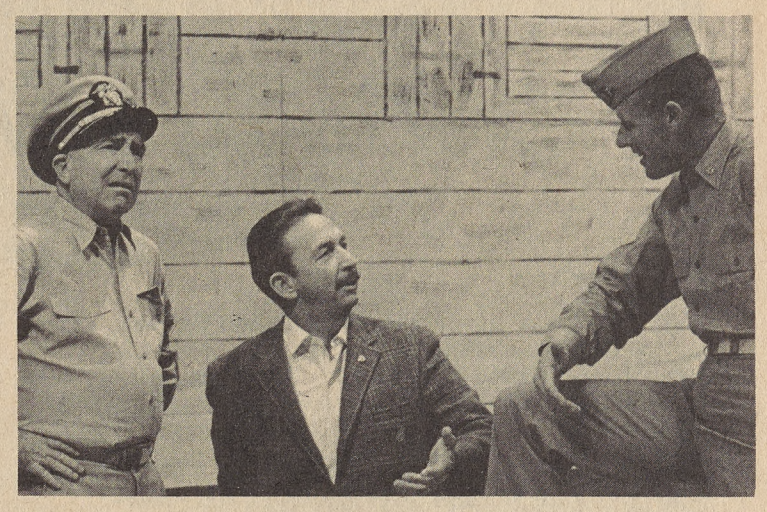
Padre Band will play in festival

Carmel High School Padre Band will participate in a band festival to be held at Seaside High School, Saturday, April 15. Sponsored by the Central Coast Section of the California Music Educators Association, the festival will permit high school bands to hear each other and to receive outside evaluation.

Bands from Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties will participate.

The Carmel Padre Band will perform shortly after 9:30 a.m.

GIGI'S MAMA is hilariously portrayed by Pat Lewis in the poignant comedy which finishes its run at Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre Saturday evening. Others in the excellent cast are Linda Bobblit, Shirley Eoff, Tonia Brandt, Michael Riordan and Dave Wynne, with Katie Russell in the title role. White Oaks fans, as well as visitors to the area, should not miss this one.



LARRY SPARKS (center) as the French Island planter, Emile, has the romantic baritone lead in the Navy Postgraduate School's hit show "South Pacific" which plays one more weekend. Flanking him are J.C. Hale (left) as Capt. Brackett and Richard Melville as Cmdr. Harbison.

Dedini to start 'Cartoonists Look at Society' series at MPC

Eldon Dedini, a favorite of readers of Esquire, The New Yorker, Playboy, Look and other magazines, will open "Cartoonists Look at Society," a lecture-demonstration series, at Monterey Peninsula College Wednesday, April 19 at 8 p.m. in the Music Hall.

Dedini is a "local boy." Born in King City, he graduated from King City High and attended Hartnell College, while working as an editorial and sports cartoonist for the Salinas Californian. Later, he attended Chouinard Art Institute in Los Angeles on a working scholarship.

After graduating from Chouinard, he worked for Universal Studios briefly, then spent the next two years with Walt Disney, "cranking out" magazine cartoons at night. Esquire then put him under a four-year contract and in 1950, he accepted a "first-look" contract with The New Yorker and moved his family to Carmel.

The series will also feature Frank O'Neal, creator of "Shortribs," April 26; and Richard Bibler, MPC art instructor and creator of "Little Man on Campus," May 3.

Exotic fish show colorful life in tropic water

Thousands of tiny neon fish with a brilliant blue "neon line" highlighting them catch the eye as one enters a shop located in Seaside. The Monterey Peninsula has no public acquarium; however, it is fortunate to have a fascinating display of rare fish in the Exotic Fish Shop.

Visitors are welcome and encouraged, and neighborhood children as well as tours from schools and children groups make regular trips to see the aquarium tanks which line the walls. Subdued lighting and Island music transport the viewer with visions of skin diving off a tropical paradise as the brilliant fish dart back and forth on all sides.

Co-Owners Jerry Carter and Roger Lirette have been working with rare tropical fish for a combined total of about forty years, most of it in the form of hobby. However, for the past five years they have made a business of it.

Included in their collection of rare fish are examples far removed from the standard gold fish of the living room bowl. One guy is not for sale, only for display. Even in all his tiny, toothsome glory, the vicious piranha from South America doesn't look like he would try to bite your arm off. However, natives who drive herds of cattle across South American rivers will lead one cow upstream to divert the schools of piranhas which will devour a cow or water buffalo in 20 seconds!

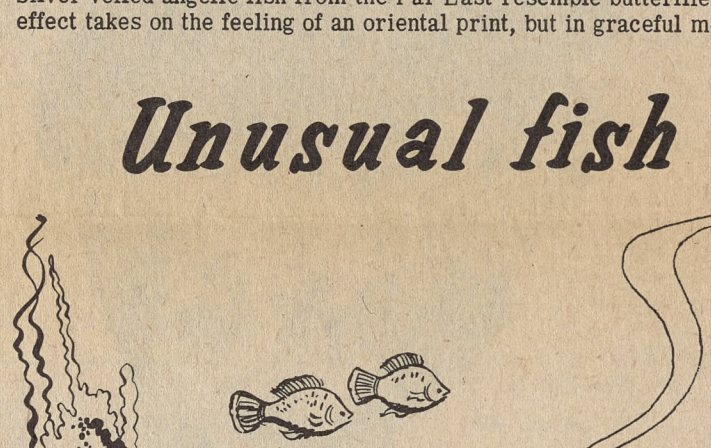
Occupying another tank, all by himself, is a speciman called a Black Ghost. This fellow has fins that ripple when he swims like a black bedsheet in the wind. The natives feel very superstitious about him and are not the least bit happy if they happen to meet up with one during a day's work... this could mean bad luck or disaster. He swims frontwards, backwards, or upside down and can sleep suspended in the middle of the tank... and he DOES have an evil, eerie quality about him.

Another weird phantom-like creature which is actually called the glass cat or phantom cat, is a small fish from Africa. These huddle together in groups and all one can see are the skeletal forms... the fish bodies themselves are completely transparent. They hover near a bunch of reeds and look out at the passing world from the safety of transparency.

Another fascinating small creature has an unspellable and unpronouncable name, but is fondly called "four eyes," by Jerry Carter. He swims close to the surface of the water and stays in shallow areas in his natural habitat. He really does have four eyes... the top two protrude above the water and keep a sharp lookout for approaching danger, while the lower two eyes scan the depths under water.

Silver veiled angelle fish from the Far East resemble butterflies as they dip and dart through the aquarium. In black effect takes on the feeling of an oriental print, but in graceful motion.

Unusual fish make comfort



New fish coming in from far places have unbelievably low mortality rates. They are shipped in sytrafoam boxes about two and a half feet square. There is insulated padding inside the styrafoam container and thousands of tiny fish ride in a plastic bag with a very small amount of water.

This is possible because a tranquilizer is put in the water before they leave Hong Kong or South America or Africa. They are flown by air freight and by the time they reach the Monterey Peninsula they are beginning to come out of their lethargy. By the time it takes to get from the airport to aquarium they are ready to start darting around their new home.

Carter said that one shipment of 6,000 angelle fish similar to those in the upper photo were sent from Hong Kong to Monterey and by the time they had been established in the shop they had a loss of only five.

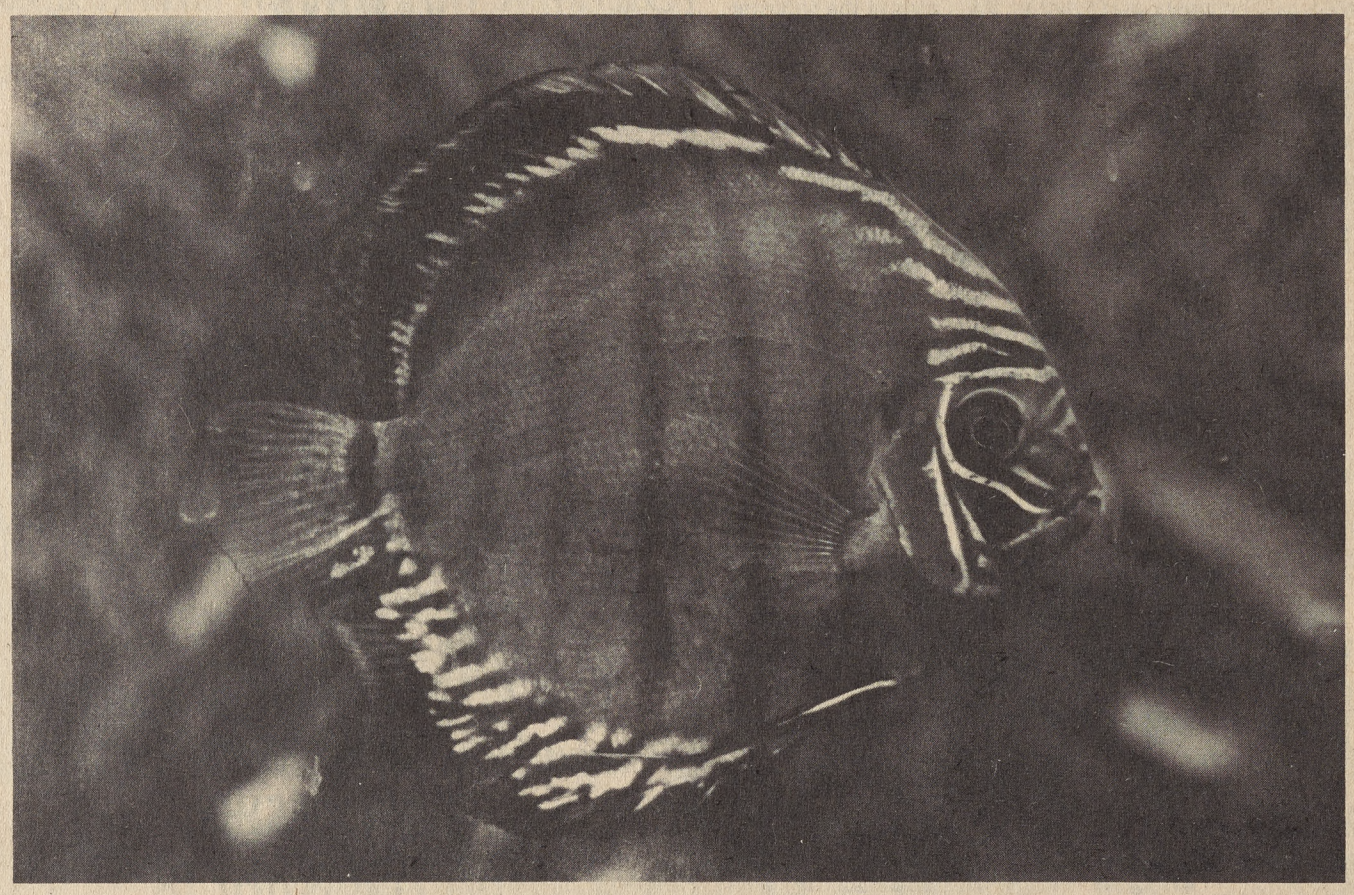
One group of small fish, called bleeding hearts (because of the glowing, perfectly shaped heart which decorates each side) was ostracized in an unlighted tank. This was because they had just arrived and were being kept in quarantine.

There are many other fascinating species to watch including the rare albino catfish who hides and peeks out from behind rocks, and the talking catfish from China who doesn't speak a language you can understand, but he certainly makes a racket.

The Porto Cara is a friendly type who can be trained to eat out of you hand, but by contrast, the Red Devil fish who has the place of honor in the large 100 gallon tank is so mean, he bats against the glass to try and bite the spectators. Even the single piranha would lose out to him, without constituents to back him up.

And if you happen to be watching at the right time, you can see the electric eel, just a small one about 6 inches long, give a bolting shock to his tankmate if he swims too close!

Rare exotic fish has become the hobby of many people and Jerry Carter has become the doctor of a number of aquariums in the area. He cleans and services the tanks and if you happen to be sitting up with a sick fish, he'll even make a house call!



IF THERE HAD been more than one blue discus in this photo, they probably would be batting noses. Another breed from South America, these fish are fighters and chase each other around the tank. The markings are fluorescent and the tails are fiery with red patterns imposed on the glowing blue. Fish such as this run about nine or ten dollars apiece if someone wished to purchase one for a home aquarium.

THIS SNOOTY LOOKING Arowana really had some reason to put his nose in the air. He was the third largest of these rare South American fish in the United States and a popular favorite with visitors to the shop. He recently died after being injured during a change of tank. There are a number of small examples of this breed which has characteristics of prehistoric fish. It is a fresh water species from the Amazon basin and is worshiped by the superstitious natives.

MIDDLE INCOME INVESTORS

Are tax-exempt securities only for rich people?

Not at all. Suppose you're single with a taxable income of $10,000*, and you buy a federally tax-exempt bond yielding 4%. You will receive the same net return on your purchase as you would on a 5.88% taxable security. The same principle holds true for a married couple with a taxable income of $20,000.

As your income goes up, the advantages of tax-exempt municipal securities increase, too. (Incidentally, some bonds are also exempt from local State income tax.) This is why many rich people buy them in large amounts. But you don't have to be rich to make them a worthwhile investment.

One other point. Tax-exempt municipal securities are relatively safe compared with some other forms of investment and, of course, they're readily marketable.

So look into municipal bonds, and do it with Dean Witter & Co. From coast to coast, we have one of the finest municipal bond staffs in the business and we participate in the underwriting of virtually every major bond issue.

For our current Offering Circular, call the manager of the nearest Dean Witter office today. Or write to us at the address below.

*You reach into the 32% tax bracket if your taxable income is over $10,000 (separate return) or $20,000 (joint return).

Brisk day for Harry's tow service

It was a brisk, cloudy morning recently when Carmel's AAA tow service left at 7 a.m. from Harry Giem's Mobil Service Station. Objective was to pull up a car that had plunged off the coast highway.

Eight miles from Carmel, Harry Giem and his crew, Dave Marshall and Jack Zenteno, looked over the edge of the cliff, and saw a 17-year-old car on the rocks 250 feet below. Giem backed the huge 2 1/2-ton tow truck to the edge of the cliff.

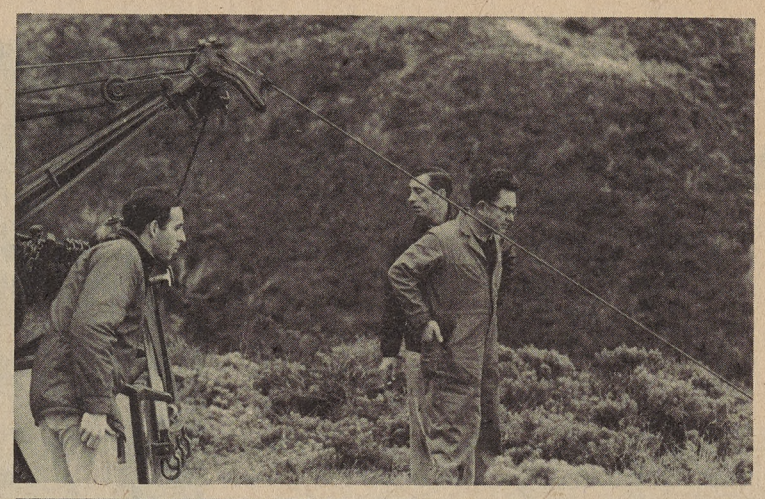
While Zenteno scrambled down the treacherous terrain, Marshall also went down the side of the cliff with the help of a cable from the truck. Within minutes, the heavy car was secured and the ascent started.

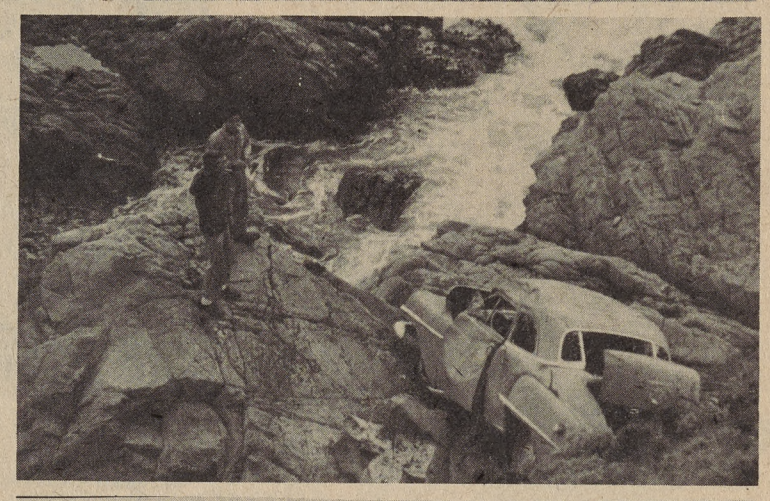
By this time a small group had gathered. As onlookers clicked their cameras, the car came slowly up the hill. One half hour later the car was back on solid ground again.

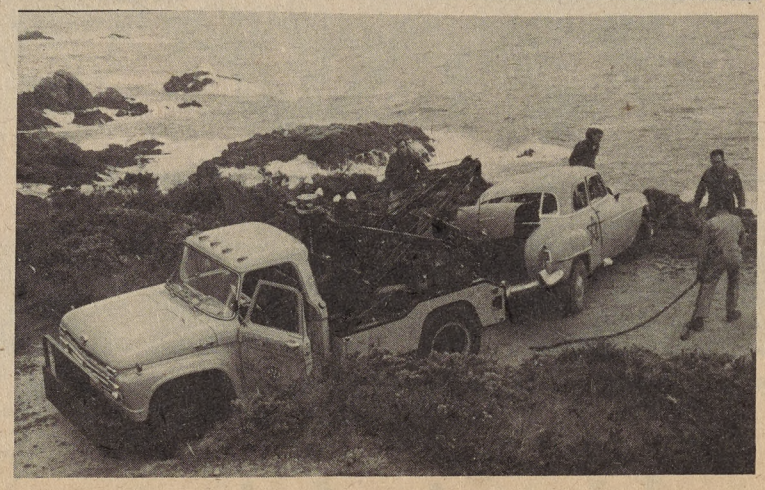
Only experience and the right equipment can do what Harry Giem and crew did that morning. "We can do just about anything with the equipment we have here in Carmel and in Carmel Valley," Giem commented.

Just 24 hours later Giem and his crew were called to the top of the Los Laureles Grade to pick a new car from a large tree 150 feet below. And again within one half hour this car was back on the roadway.

—SB







TOP—Jack Zenteno prepares to start the winch as Dave Marshall and Harry Giem check both ends of the operation.
CENTER—Jack and Dave climbed down to the rocky crevice where the car was lodged to attach the cables.
BOTTOM—Mission accomplished with the wrecked car hauled up the steep cliff and ready to be towed away.

'Everybody out' for softball team

Softball practice is Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, with games on Saturday. Teams will compete in the Monterey League, plus other practice games.

"We want everybody to come out," Coach Blumenthal commented. "Boys who have never played baseball will be welcome, for nobody is eliminated. There will be enough teams for everybody to compete on."

World wide authority

Author refutes old fashioned ideas about hypnosis

A world-wide authority on hypnosis, psychologist Leslie M. LeCron, is a new Carmel Valley resident.

Author of seven books on hypnosis, he and Dr. Peter Mutke, M.D. of Carmel, are two of a team of four professional men giving courses in hypnosis to other professional men.

LeCron recently moved into a home in Rancho Canada he had built, with his wife, Ethelyn and son, James, who attends Carmelo School. Although semi-retired, he has taken over former Sen. Fred Farr's office in the Lincoln South building in Carmel for his office.

Moving here from Pacific Palisades, LeCron is no stranger to this area. He lived in Carmel from 1926 through 1928, and recalls the pleasure he had acting in a number of plays given in Forest Theatre.

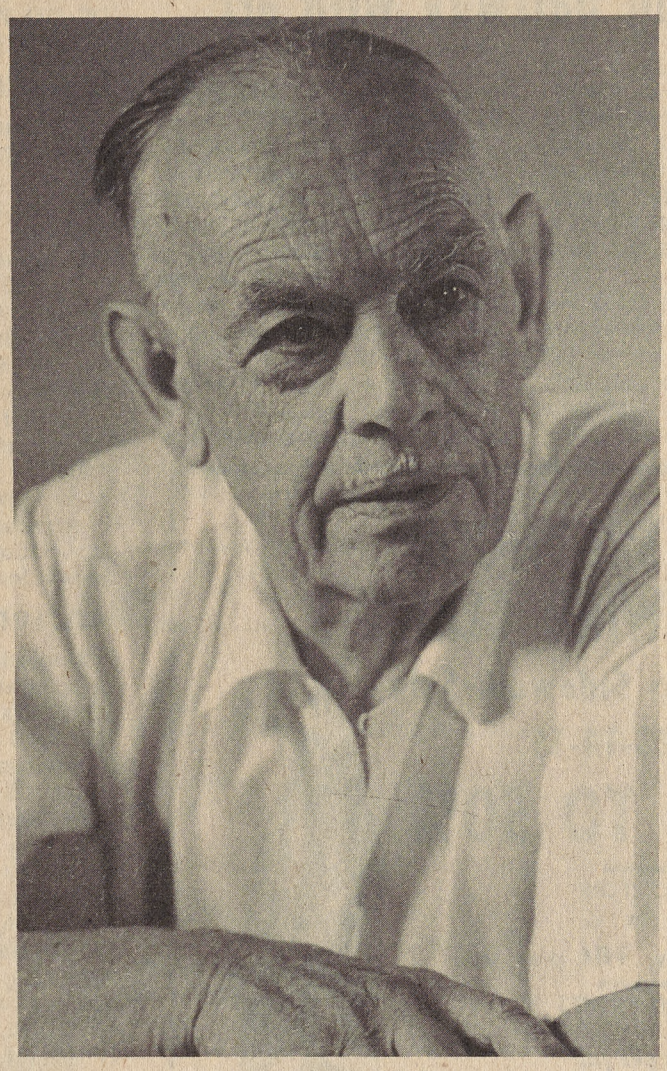
A graduate of the University of Colorado, LeCron has been a state certified psychologist in California for many years. One of the seven books he has authored, "Self Hypnosis," published by Prentice Hall, has been a comparative best seller and has sold more than 140,000 copies.

LeCron has staged 93 different symposiums for professional people in hypnosis. His 94th is scheduled June 2, 3 and 4 in San Francisco. Participating instructors with LeCron will be Dr. David Cheek and Dr. David B. Cheek, both M.D.s and Dr. Herbert Owens, D.D.S.

They will present two courses, primary and advanced. The advanced course, according to a brochure, "deals with special induction methods, handling of resistances, patient management, group therapy, special techniques in diagnosis and prognosis, etc.

"The primary course prepares the participants for use of hypnosis in clinical practice. It includes necessary information about hypnosis and its induction and stresses its practical applications in medicine, dentistry and psychotherapy."

(Written specially for The Outlook, the following is the first of several articles on hypnosis by LeCron.)



LESLIE M. LeCRON

by
Leslie M. LeCron
State Certified Psychologist

Some 20 years ago it is doubtful if there were as many as 200 professional men in this country who employed hypnosis in their practices. Today more than 15,000 have had instruction in its applications. Now physicians, psychologists and dentists are using it in all of the larger cities, in most of the smaller ones, and even in many smaller towns.

Hypnosis has long been regarded as something mysterious and magical by both the public and by those professional men who never learned the true facts about it. Even today this attitude is still prevalent and most people have misconceptions about it.

One of the most common is the belief that a person becomes unconscious when hypnotized. There never is loss of consciousness, even in the deepest stages of hypnosis. You are fully aware at all times.

Actually there is a lack of sensation other than a feeling of listlessness or lethargy. You feel that you could move if you wanted to, and you could, but it seems to be too much trouble and you don't want to bother doing so.

Another false idea that frightens some people is the belief that a hypnotized person must do anything he is told to do, must carry out any suggestion given him and is in the power of the hypnotist. Obviously this is not true or it would be used anti-socially, for it is not hard to learn to induce hypnosis and there are many unscrupulous people in this world.

No one will carry out an objectionable suggestion if definitely contrary to his wishes. Ridiculous acts may be carried out if the subject is under the impression that he must obey any suggestion. However, he will not if his morals or desires are contrary.

Spontaneous self-hypnosis is an everyday occurrence with all of us. Without being labeled as such, you've been self-hypnotized many, many times.

Do you daydream? Everyone does at times and daydreaming is nothing but hypnosis. When you become absorbed in anything you do, when reading a book, in your work, in some interesting TV program, then you slip spontaneously into hypnosis.

In 1955 the British Medical Association made a thorough investigation of hypnosis and its medical applications and adopted a resolution stating that it has great value and should be taught in medical schools. Three years later our American Medical Association adopted a similar resolution. For the first time in its history hypnosis became an accepted procedure rather than regarded as quackery.

Unfortunately very few medical schools have seen fit to teach hypnosis, even at a post-graduate level. The thousands of practitioners who have learned its applications have taken courses privately given by colleagues who are experienced in its uses.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

By PETER GROVER

Five Carmel Valley boys joined Troop #127 at the regular meeting on March 27. Greg Martin, Bruce Eldridge, and John Schaefer joined as Tenderfoot Scouts while Rod Deas is Second Class and John Deas is a Life Scout, though just joining Troop #127.

A guest speaker, Mr. Smith, talked about exploring caves. The safety equipment an experienced "spelunker" uses was shown.

This was the first troop meeting for a month. Patrols had met regularly and the troop had gone on an overnight campout to Carmel River Camp. (See picture story on pages 10-11)

Two O-A (Order of the Arrow) Scouts talked about summer camps and how to be eligible to be an O-A Scout. At present Troop #127 has two with this rank, Doug Updike and Chris Hansen, both Eagle Scouts.

At the galleries

High school painters hang hallway with art

One of the most interesting galleries in the area is often the corridor of Carmel High School's administration building.

The current exhibit there consists of three works each by nine young artists who are under the direction and inspiration of art teacher William Stone.

Their project was to copy realistically a scene from a photograph. Then they were to "loosen it up" for an impressionistic second interpretation (applying paint with the edge of a strip of cardboard and daubing color on with a sponge, for instance); and go all out to pure expressionism for their third.

Lonni Whitcomb's trees reflected in a pool becomes a lovely abstraction of leaves and flower heads; Chelsea Miller's three studies of a landscape through a window could be labeled "through a glass brightly, brighter, brightest."

Gary Klemek's sensitively drawn house facade grows from drab realism into a gay abstraction. Karen Austing's beach dunes are particularly effective at the impressionistic stage and Rick Roberts seems to enjoy best his study of a mountain lake in its "farthest out" form.

Sue Abbott chose an aerial view of what appears to be a highway bridge that makes a stunning pattern in each of her renditions; Etta Rae Black has fun dissecting a waterfall and Janice Erikson and Diane Marret give poetic interpretations of woodsy landscapes.

Jo Mora work bought

A distinguished work of the late Jo Mora has become the property of the Monterey History and Art Association. The sculpture is known as "La Novia" meaning "The Bride."

Created in 1926, it depicts an equestrian post-wedding scene in the days when Monterey was the capital of Spanish holdings in the Pacific West.

The Del Monte Properties Co. has transferred title of the sculpture to the Association and it will remain at the Naval Postgraduate School until the Association establishes a permanent location for it.

Pearson at Tantamont

A selected group of drawings in black and white and color by Ray Pearson is to be seen during April in Carmel Valley's Tantamount Theater Green Room Gallery. Included are many sketches of people and places on the Peninsula scene, as well as pages from a recent sojourn in Mexico.

Pearson, a native of Chicago and student in its Art Institute, moved to California 15 years ago to complete his studies at Chouinard. He exhibited widely in the Los Angeles area where he worked in the graphic arts-animation field.

He moved to the Peninsula in 1964, and exhibited at Sancho Panza Coffee House. He lives now in Carmel Valley.

David Pickett, Nancy Johnson speak in series

The third "Operation Update" lecture of the 1967 series will be presented tomorrow (Thursday) at the Monterey Youth Center at El Estero, adjacent to Dennis the Menace Park.

The series, which is free and open to all women of the community, had been held at Monterey Peninsula College in previous years.

Thursday's lecture will be given by David Pickett from Carmel Valley, and will be concerned with ESP. On April 27, artist Nancy Johnson of Carmel will talk on "The Art Spirit."

Lectures begin at 10 a.m. with a coffee hour and question period following.

The first speakers of the series which opened last week, were concert pianist Gilbert Boyer and his artist wife, Louise, who talked of their experiences in the "Each One Teach One" literacy program in Mexico and South America.

The second speaker was Charles Mulkey of MPC, speaking on benefits of space research.

Coffee hour for Incumbent O'Gara

A coffee hour will be held on Thursday, April 13, at the home of Mrs. Kline Smith on Rio Vista Drive to give local residents an opportunity to meet Mrs. Nancy O'Gara, incumbent who is running for MPC trustee. Mrs. O'Gara will be on hand at 10:30 a.m. to answer questions and discuss her views on Monterey Peninsula College, its accomplishments and aims. The coffee is open to women interested in getting to know more about Mrs. O'Gara and her qualifications for board member.

Mrs. Walt Stewart hosted a similar coffee for Upper Valley residents on Monday.

Pam Baldwin to wed June 24

A June wedding has been planned by Pamela Baldwin and Clyde Klaumann, whose engagement was announced recently by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Baldwin of Carmel. Clyde is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Klaumann, also of Carmel.

The ceremony will take place on Saturday, June 24, at the Church of the Wayfarer.

Pam, who is a 1966 graduate of Carmel High School, is assistant director of the Carmel Youth Center. She has been a Carmel resident since she moved here from Merced with her family in 1957.

Clyde is a 1957 graduate of Carmel High School and attended Sunset School, where he returned after completing his education as a teacher. He is presently on the faculty of Carmel Middle School. During summer vacations he assists his father, who is Carmel Police Chief.

"Who is your brother's keeper?"

Should it be you?

In a time when it's 'every man for himself,' to love your neighbor as yourself may seem to carry a hollow ring.

But to do so can be vital to each of us. To love even our enemies is to discover something of the richness of love itself. It can open the way to greater accomplishment in our lives, restoring health and blessing others. And the way is to begin to see our true nature — and that of our fellowman — as fashioned in the image and likeness of God.

You are invited to hear this subject explored in a challenging lecture by Neil H. Bowles, C.S.B., of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Bowles is an experienced Christian Science teacher and practitioner and a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Admission is free and all are welcome.

Cookery Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

Joining our list of food connoisseurs willing to share their treasured recipes is COL. JOHN L. OLOW III of Carmel. He has collected many during travels throughout Europe, Asia and South America.

This week he has sent us two he found in Norway and writes of this country that only a small percent (three to be near correct) of the land is suitable for agriculture. Thus people have turned to grazing cattle and to the sea.

He points out as an example, that Norwegians serve herring fresh, dried, salted, smoked, spiced, pickled and in soup. And he encloses a recipe for salted herring soup and another for a fresh shrimp sauce.

HERRING SOUP
(Sildegryn)

1/2 cup dried peas (yellow)
1/2 cup barley
3 1/2 quarts water
1 turnip sliced
1 carrot sliced
1 onion chopped
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground pepper
3 potatoes (peeled and diced)
1/4 tsp. thyme
1 pinch juniper
3 salt herring (medium size), filleted and sliced 1/2 inch thick

Soak peas overnight in water. Drain well. Combine barley with peas and water in soup pot. Cook over medium heat for 45 minutes. Add the turnip, carrot, onion, salt, pepper. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes. Add potatoes, thyme, juniper and stir well. Cook for 25 minutes. Add herring slices and cook 5 minutes. Serve hot.

CAULIFLOWER WITH SHRIMP SAUCE
(Blomkal Med Rekesos)

3 T. butter
1 cup bread crumbs
1 2/3 cups milk (use 2/3 homogenized & 1/3 half and half if raw milk is not available)
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. sugar
1 1/2 cups cooked fresh shrimp
2 T. brandy
1 whole cauliflower

Melt the butter in a saucepan. Add bread crumbs, mix well. Add the milk, stir constantly until boiling point reached. Add salt, sugar and shrimp. Cook over low heat for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add the brandy. Let stand.

Place cauliflower in a large saucepan of boiling, salted water. Cook for 20-25 minutes (do not overcook).

Place sauce over low heat to allow to thicken for two minutes. Drain cauliflower completely and place on serving platter. Pour sauce over it and serve at once.

The Rhyming Philosopher

I establish no claim to a mansion of fame
Or house full of museum treasures,
But I now must confess we've collected a mess
Of relics of past human pleasures.

We've saved corks I have popped and the clocks that have stopped,
And ball pointed pens long expired;
Old school books and pencils and cooking utensils,
And gadgets which since came unwired.

There's boxes of letters from old friends and debtors,
And tools which have long lost their handles.
The kitchen's a haven for cook books we're saving,
And cartons of used birthday candles.

The attic is loaded with bed-springs out-moded,
And chests full of toys, some unbroken.
There's stand lamps and lockers,
and understuffed rockers,
And souvenir plates from Hoboken.

We have no obsessions regarding possessions,
Because we had little to start with.
When love is the reason we feel it's high treason
To throw away things we can't part with.
No. 203 Harry W. Fletcher

Firemen assist

C.V. Volunteer Firemen and First Aiders combined efforts at an accident near Panetta and E. Carmel Valley Rd. when a car driven by Peter P. Alliotti, 486 Monroe St., Monterey, went out of control on a curve, ran off the shoulder of the road, striking a tree and caught fire. The injured man was taken to a Valley physician for treatment.

Fleming moves on to area speakers tourney

Phil Fleming of Robert Louis Stevenson School, has done it again for the Carmel Valley Lions Club. Sixteen Lions members and wives cheered him on to victory in the Lions Club Student Speaker's Contest, district competition, at Santa Cruz last week.

Phil will now move on to the area tournament which will be held at the American Legion Hall in Watsonville on April 21 at 7 p.m. There will be a total of five students in this competition and the winner will compete with the north Northern California winner at Oakland.

The champion of that contest will then enter the multiple district finals at Santa Barbara where he will meet the Southern California winner.

Phil is a boarding student at RLS, but when he is not in school, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andreas Wolf on Carmel Valley Road. He is also editor of the RLS newspaper, The Tusitala.

Little League final tryouts and sign-up to be Saturday

Final opportunity for signing up and tryouts for the Carmel Valley Little League teams is April 15.

All players must register, even if they played last year. Tryouts for boys 9 and 10 years old are scheduled from 10-12, and for boys 11 and 12, from 2-4 p.m. Eight-year-olds may sign up for the farm team at any time during the tryouts.

Each boy must bring his birth certificate, and be accompanied by a parent. Registration and tryouts will take place at the new field, Casey Park, on Paso Hondo.

Managers and coaches for the four teams are: "Tigers," Will Johnson and Doug Forzani; "Volunteers," Sal Ocampo and Larry Avila; "Giants," Fred Alm and Linden Egli; "Red Sox," Hap Thystrup and Bill Conlan.

Roger Sherman, president of the League, reports that work on Casey Field is progressing satisfactorily, but volunteer helpers are still urgently needed. Men of the Valley, especially parents of players, are urged to report for work Saturday morning to help finish up the job of getting the field in shape for the opening of the season.

The construction of the new facility has depleted the treasury, and financial contributions (which are tax deductible) are needed and will be more than welcome. Checks should be made to Carmel Valley Little League, and may be sent to Roger Sherman, 76 Paso Hondo.

Padre club downs K.C.

Carmel High varsity ball club knocked over King City 10-7 on the home diamond Friday, while the JV game was called because of mud.

The Padres, with a nice 2-1 record, are scheduled to play Pacific Grove Friday here.

Carmel pitchers against K.C. were Brian McEldowney and Ben Artellan, who together turned in a six-hitter.

Doug Mapson, smashing a homer and two singles, led the Padres in hitting.

Carmel trackmen second to P.G.

Carmel High's varsity trackmen Friday came through with a close second place in a four-way meet at Pacific Grove and the Padre lightweights were 4th.

Varsity winner was P.G. with 58, Carmel next with 55, Live Oak third with 51 and Palma last with 38.

Lightweights were Live Oak first, P.G. second, Palma 3rd and Carmel 4th.

Robert Louis Stevenson School also participated on a non-scoring basis.
